THE ROCHE FIRM OBTAINED LION'S SHARE PROVINCIAL PRINTING

The Henry Roche Printing Company of Edmonton secured $48,944 of the printing of the province of Alberta for 1926 not won by tender, according to a return issued to L. A. Giroux, Liberal, Grouard, out of a total of some $12,180 of the printing done during the year.

A long way behind in second place came the University of Alberta, with $10,166 and the Edmonton Printing and Publishing company with $9,651. Some $12,000 of printing was done by tender during the year, of which the Roche company secured $1,129 against $2,575 secured by the Edmonton Printing and Publishing company and $2,399 by the Tilley Press Limited.

Parmenter—Now is the time to see your machinery in shape for spring work. The Atlas Lbr. Co. can furnish you with any size of shape of oak. They also have a fresh stock of Blacksmith coal on hand.

Mrs. E. Cummings of Edmonton is paying a short visit to Mrs. Steve Bowerman.

BRITISH COLUMBIA INDIANS DEMAND LANDED RIGHTS

OTTAWA—A joint committee of the two houses of parliament harked back to the days when white men first came to British Columbia. The committee had before it a petition from the Allied Indian tribes of British Columbia, asserting an aboriginal title in British Columbia lands. There was a delegation of B.C. Indians, with Andrew Paul, himself an Indian, and secretary of the Allied Indian Tribes of British Columbia, to state their grievances.

Mr. Paul, in his story, quoted not only the white man's record of diary and official document as to early agreements over land title, but Indian tradition which had come down through generations. In agreement with representatives of the King, Mr. Paul said, the Indians always had in mind—although they knew nothing of fractions or decimals—that they were to retain a certain share of interest in the land.

"We maintain that we were never conquered," said Mr. Paul, "and we should never be subjected to anything but a conquered nation had to submit to. We have sworn allegiance to the British flag and we expect justice." He told how, in the old days, each tribe had its own tribal territory.

HOUSE HEATING BY NATURAL GAS IS NO LONGER DREAM

Gas for house heating has ceased to be a pipe dream and is now a reality that will soon put to rout the so-called home-burn heating plants in use today, according to R. D. Stuart, and L. H. Knapp, engineers of the Blackstone Valley Gas and Electric Co., Pawtucket, R. I. They use the term "home-burn" to describe ordinary heating plants because it is the only thing that burns and when crude fuels are used in a furnace, the dweller is making his own gas.

These crude-burning furnaces are also very low efficiency in the opinion of Mr. Stuart and Mr. Knapp. Owing to imperfect gas production, incomplete burning and the unavoidable consumption of fuel when heat is not needed most of the available heat units in the fuel are wasted up the chimney and into the ash pit.

The pipe-reality is the method of heating without smoke, soot, or ashes, when temperature is automatically maintained without attention. The automatic regulating devices are little short of human in ingenuity, while lacking the human weakness of forgetfulness.

"When we sit in the seat of an automobile and press a button to start the engine we accept the complication of the apparatus under the hood. The crooked piece of steel hanging on the front of the car was simple but it has almost disappeared from the automobile. Likewise the coal shovel and ash can will become as rare as the bay fork and the feed bag. Gas and electric appliances have made mother's time in the kitchen brief and pleasant. Automatic gas heating will make father's relations with the basement equally happy."

"If you want a good clean job, and want it done quickly call on Frank Scott for all kinds of interior decorating. Phone 363."

BOARD OF TRADE WILL BANQUET BOYS OF HOCKEY CLUB

The natural resources and sports committee of the Board of Trade met the executive of that body on Wednesday evening of last week in the Town Hall, when Mr. E. Cork, chairman of the sports committee occupied the chair.

After considerable discussion in which many members present took part it was resolved that the Board of Trade entertain the members of the Wainwright Hockey Club at a banquet to be held on Thursday April 14th in the Wainwright hotel.

It was also decided that at that gathering the matter of arranging for the carrying on of summer sports in town be brought up for full discussion.

President J. Cuthbertson then having assumed the chair he appointed Messrs F. Fish and Geo. McKeever as a committee to make the necessary arrangements for the function.

Mayor Foster, who is also chairman of the resources committee then presented a recommendation for the renewal of the bounty on crude oil by the Federal government for the endorsement of the Board.

This splendid paper on the subject which had been prepared by Mr. A. Mowatt, managing director of the Edmonton-Wainwright Co., was read to all present and most heartily endorsed by them as the executive of the Board, and it was ordered that it be forwarded to the Northern Alberta Oil and Gas association, Edmonton for their consideration, and for them to formulate some action in their matter.

The meeting then adjourned.

PUBLIC HEALTH TALK GIVEN BY DENTAL ASSOC.

"JUMPING TOOTHACHE" You have been fortunate, indeed, if you have never experienced that worst of all dental pains—the "jumping toothache."

But perhaps you have listened sympathetically to your little chap as he tried to tell you, between sobs, how something just seemed to be jumping up and down inside the tooth that pained more and more intensely as he lay with his cheek against the pillow.

Most instinctively, perhaps, you had him sit up, and he found, happily, that it did not hurt nearly so much as when he was lying down. Now you thought perhaps it 'was because he stopped thinking about it so much when sitting up, but was because the pain more bearable, but just why it 'jumped' you were not so sure.

Well, no doubt you have had a cut finger with an area of inflammation around the wound, and you noticed that the pain was of a throbbing character, that with each pulse-beat there was a sharp little stab, so to speak. Now, the same with the tooth—with each heart-beat a new supply of blood is forced into the pulp tissue which being inflamed and already increased with blood, is subjected to an increased and severe pressure (fat each beat), and a consequent response on the part of the nerve as they are subjected to the abnormal pressure. This we call pain.

Then, with your little chap sitting up, the flow of blood to the head was lessened, resulting in a milder rush of blood into the tooth pulp, which caused a decreased pressure, which lessened pain.

TOWNS TO GRANT FIXED ASSESSMENTS TO BONUS INDUSTRY

Power to bonus industries is given to cities, towns and villages in a bill now before the Alberta legislature to amend the Industries Assessment act.

The bill gives power to a city town or village to pass a general by-law granting fixed assessments in respect of improvements thereon erected by industrial establishments before 1920. If such improvements are of the value of $25,000. The fixed assessment is not less than 25 per cent of the actual value of the improvements and no fixed assessment is to run past 1933.

COMPENSATION ACT AMENDMENTS AIM EDUCATING CHILDREN

An important amendment to the Workmen's Compensation act, now awaiting committee consideration in the Alberta legislature, was given second reading Friday afternoon.

The amendment provides that where, in the opinion of the workmen's compensation board, it is advisable to give a child a better education than it can secure up to age 16, the board may at its discretion extend the period during which compensation may be paid in respect of such child, to a period not beyond the thirteenth year.

Another amendment brings under the compensation scheme, permanent partially disabled workmen who may have become so since June 1921, the act as at present including only those injured in 1923 or later.

Spring is here, and house cleaning time. Phone 163 to Frank Scott to do your paperhanging. Service and satisfaction.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bogstie have now rented the Dr. Middlemass property on Fourth avenue west.

ALBERTA LOSES IN THE EGG AND POULTRY TRADE

EDMONTON—That the province of Alberta lost $14,195.82 last year in trying to sell eggs and poultry in competition with private enterprise and that total losses in the egg marketing branch of the department of agriculture up to December 31, 1926, aggregate $48,391.07, is disclosed by an examination of the public accounts of the province.

In a citation, the department of agriculture's dairy commissioners branch lost $10,545.21 last year in its cream grading services, or an aggregate loss of $16,536.31. This latter figure was offset slightly by a profit of $1,591.12 in the butter marketing service.

The loss on cream and butter grading is chargeable to creameries. Hon. George Hoadley, minister of agriculture, in a discussion on the subject in committee of supply, but the money has not been repaid.

Mr. M. Misenar, the piano tuner of Edmonton will be in Wainwright and district early in May. If in need of his services orders left at The Star office will receive prompt attention.

CUSTOMS RECORD SHOW CAN. AUTO OUTPUT HIGH

Production of automobiles in Canada in January 1927 amounted to 15,376 cars an increase of 98 per cent over the 7,752 units produced in the previous month, but slightly lower than the output of 15,479 units made in January of a year ago. Of the total January output, 49 per cent, or 7,593 cars were produced for export and the balance of 7,783 cars were intended for sale in Canada.

Compared with January of the last year this month's output of passenger cars showed a decline in number 11 per cent. production of trucks was down to 25 per cent while the output of chassis was increased by 70 per cent. Production of closed car models rose to 5,547 from 3,582, while open passenger cars dropped to 3,877 from 7,061; chassis advanced to 4,158 from 2,447; the number of trucks declined from 1,292 from 2,374 and only two taxicabs or buses were made during the month as against 15 in January, 1926.

According to Customs' record a total of 1,019 automobiles were imported into Canada during January as compared with 764 in December and 691 in January of last year. Exports cleared from Canadian ports numbered 7,489 cars, against 5,642 in December and 5,159 in January 1926. Re-exported 4 imported cars numbered 14 during the month.

The number of motor cars needed to meet the Canadian demand may be computed by adding the imports of 1,019 cars to the 7,783 cars which were produced for sale in Canada. This makes an available supply during the month of 8,802 cars but at 14 of the imported cars were re-exported the apparent consumption in Canada during January amounted to 8,788 cars.

PRICE COMPANY PLANS BUILDING REFINERY AT WAINWRIGHT

The current issue of the Oil Examiner carries the following story—Price Oil & Development Co., Ltd., organized in Winnipeg is being financed in Canada and England to build a refinery at Wainwright with a capacity of 10,000 barrels per day.

The company owns leases in the Wainwright and Turner Valley field which will be drilled on after the refinery has been financed.

R. A. Price of Winnipeg is president and managing director of the company which has an authorized capitalization of 750,000 shares of $1 par value.

HOW SOME OLD EASTER CUSTOMS WERE ORIGINATED

The origin of the custom of giving Easter Eggs is interesting. The Persians, previous to their conversion to Mohammedanism, reckoned the new year commenced from the day the sun enters Aries, which is in March. According to one of the ancient theories, all things were produced from an egg, hence called the Mundane egg. This theory was received in Persia, and gave rise to the customs there of people presenting each other with an egg as a symbol of a new beginning of time on every New Year's Day—that is, on the day the sun enters Aries.

The doctrine of the Mundane egg spread quickly to other countries, to the eastward of Persia, and to the westward. But the New Year was not kept everywhere on the day the sun enters Aries, and in Persia itself the introduction of the Mohammedan faith brought with it a removal of New Year's Day. Yet, in spite of all these changes, in various countries the custom of giving eggs on the occasion of the sun's entrance into Aries has continued. At first, the egg was the symbol of the beginning of time, and now it is the symbol of the Resurrection. This is the real origin of the Easter egg of the Greek and Roman Churches. The Roman Church brought it into England, and from there it has spread all over the civilized world.

Why We Wear New Clothes on Easter In some countries it has long been considered unlucky to omit wearing new clothes on Easter Day. In certain country places in Europe, all the young people go to the nearest market town to buy some new article of dress or personal adornment, as otherwise they believe that birds, notably rooks or crows, will spoil their clothes.

Now we have in America the customs of many lands, the German hare, the decorated eggs of France, the Easter gifts of Russia, and every year the Easter spirit seems to grow stronger.

Easter appeals to both adults and children, and is looked forward to every year hopefully and with reverence.

Who is THE CHEERFUL LIAR? Postmaster Lally was away on business for a day or so over the week end.

We are sorry to learn that little Teddy Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Del. Wilson fell from a wood pile on the farm with the result that he is suffering from a broken arm.

The Atlas Lumber Co. are now unloading several cars of lumber brick, plaster board and other supplies to take care of the building requirements for this season.

Arrangements are now complete for the presentation by the Boys' club of St. Luke's church of an operetta entitled "Jigamere" at the theatre on Friday April 22nd. A full house is hoped for.

Miss LaPlante, who has been in Edmonton recovering from an operation for appendicitis has now returned to her home in the Paschenade district.

SCREEN VERSION OF POPULAR NOVEL GIVES BROAD SCOPE

The finest picture of his career to date is the general pronouncement of those who have witnessed advance screenings of "Tumbleweed" William S. Hart's first production for the United Artists Corporation release.

In the principal role of Don Carver, Bill Hart is the typical character with which he has become identified—a photographic portrayal of the formidable but chivalrous westerner.

This story by Hal G. Evans, which was adapted for the screen by C. Gardener Sullivan, is a particularly powerful epic drama of the last days of the American homesteaders—the settling of the Cherokee Land Strip between Kansas and Oklahoma, in 1889.

King Baggot, who directed the production, is of the firm opinion that he has never done anything comparable to this in point of magnitude, dramatic power and human interest. He is formerly an actor of extreme popularity, his intimate knowledge of the screen from the actor's point of view as well as the director's, has enabled him to get from the story the last element of entertainment value.

William S. Hart, looking and acting the role of the cowpuncher with a predilection to roam—styling himself a "tumbleweed" and indicating the squash as an odious comparison, because of its inability to leave its home—has a part that is made to order for him, but in addition he has surrounded himself with a highly competent cast of players with Barbara Bedford as leading woman.

"Tumbleweed" will be seen on Sat. at the theatre. The myriad details of a portrayal of western characters, will be eager to see the production which has the magnitude of the film which his former efforts.

Thousands upon thousands of extra people, portraying settlers, cattlemen, punchers, soldiers and so on, thousands of cattle and horses, vehicles of every kind and description, used in the great homestead rush; numerous and interesting location effects; scenes in a western town on the borders of the Cherokee Strip—a booming metropolis overnight, so to speak—a stirring romance, much spontaneous and legitimate comedy and some thrilling and highly dramatic moments—with Bill Hart and his two sons, his horse and his inimitable personality—all these things make of this a typical Hart picture—the kind brought him fame and has kept him a prime favorite of the film fans through a decade.

Fraternat Lodges ALL WORKING HARD BENEFIT WHIST DRIVE The fraternal orders of the town are now all working hard towards the end that the benefit whist drive and dance which is being put on in theatre on Tuesday the nineteenth may prove the greatest of any such undertaking ever attempted.

Committees from each organization are now arranging the many details and all are giving freely of their time and experience along the lines of their endeavor so that everybody can rest assured that a real good time is to be enjoyed, from attendance at the function.

As previously noted, the whist drive and dance will be held in the theatre, while the supper which will be held after the cards are put away will be partaken of in the clubrooms of the C. N. R. Social club in the rink. This arrangement should prove the most satisfactory possible, for it will mean that the devotees of terrace will have no waiting before the Stott orchestra can commence to entertain those who do not wish to play cards.

The several lodges, etc., each have tickets on sale, and it behooves everyone to procure their tickets early, and by the "selling out" of their one dollar, will rest assured that they will be getting the finest evening's (and night's) entertainment ever offered to the public of Wainwright for the money, and at the same time assisting one of the most worthy institutions of its kind in Canada—The Wood's Orphan Homes at Calgary—where even some little unfortunate Wainwright boys are now being brought up in such a manner as to be a real credit to the institution as well as to become splendid and well educated citizens. Help the good work! It's your duty.

Pontiac

Value

PONTIAC Six introduced a totally new and revolutionary standard of values when the first Pontiac Six was announced a little over a year ago.

Now, Pontiac Six is increasing its lead—sweeping still further in advance of its field. For, in the New and Finer Pontiac Six, General Motors has achieved a combination of fine, six-cylinder performance, strikingly beautiful appearance and low price unequalled in all the automobile world.

Again Pontiac leads in value—and by a wider margin than ever. Small wonder that the records established by Pontiac's first year sales are already being surpassed by the enthusiastic public reception of the New and Finer Pontiac Six.

Come in and see the car, and the reasons for Pontiac leadership become at once apparent.

WAINWRIGHT, ALBERTA APRIL 6th, 1927

CANADA'S FOREIGN TRADE

The large sales of our wheat at high prices, a steadily increasing demand for newspapers, minerals and certain manufactures, such as automobiles, farm implements and rubber goods, increased our exports during the past year by a value of over $1,250,000, but in recent months sales to other countries have declined and the state of the foreign markets has been a matter of some concern. From June until October, exports to the United States followed a somewhat irregular course, decreasing occurring in some months and increases in others; the total for the entire period, however, was about the same as that for the corresponding period of 1925. By midwinter, our foreign trade began to feel the effects of the coal strike in Great Britain and the value of exports to the United Kingdom shows a decline of about $400,000 in the latter part of 1926, as compared with the same period of 1925. Increases in shipments of grain, paper and rubber goods were more than offset by reductions in other classes, not minerals. The prolonged monetary difficulties in France and Belgium, and in Italy in a lesser degree, placed these countries in a more difficult position than was anticipated, and for a time it was doubtful whether they would be able to enter upon plans that would bring about the stabilization of their currencies within a reasonable period. General business conditions were not favourable in some other countries that provide good markets for Canadian products.

Within the last month or two the appearance of the foreign markets has improved. Fears of a sharp recession in business activity in the United States have included the eminent Secretary of the Treasury, there being general agreement that the country's position is fundamentally sound, and that even if continued gains in industrial production cannot be attained if 1927 conditions should be satisfactory. Then end of the coal strike in Great Britain and the return to work of over half a million miners, a slight decrease in unemployment in other industries and generally business have removed one of the most uncertain elements in Canada's foreign trade situation. It is, of course, too much to expect that Great Britain can overcome in a short time the losses sustained in the most costly labour dispute ever known, but the underlying strength of her economic structure was demonstrated by the steady course of sterling exchange and by the fact that it was not necessary to borrow under the credits established in the United States for emergencies. It seems, therefore, that we can reasonably expect that conditions in the United Kingdom will be more stable, for some time at least, and that the benefits resulting therefrom will shortly be apparent in all branches of trade and industry.

In Europe beneficial effects are already noticeable from the stabilization of the currency of some countries to regain their former position in international trade, and it now seems probable that the heavy premium on their imports, resulting from their depreciated currencies, will disappear before long. A few years ago the currency of practically every country in Europe was quoted elsewhere as a discount, while to-day not more than three or four of the important nations suffer from exchange difficulties. A most significant movement in the Old World is the growth of industrial combinations, or cartels as they are sometimes called. This is one step in the journey towards greater industrial efficiency, which is recognized as essential to economic recovery in Europe. The purpose of these cartels is to end the ruinous competition and price cutting in some industries which have prevailed hitherto.

In Argentina and Australia growing conditions have been more favorable than in 1925, and greater yields of most agricultural crops are expected. India has enjoyed a satisfactory monsoon, and should reap correspondingly good crops. In Japan the serious effects of the disastrous earthquake of September, 1923, have largely been overcome; there was considerable improvement in the country's position in 1925 which, however, was not maintained throughout 1926, but the recent governmental aid to the raw silk industry is an important measure, and it should provent further violent fluctuations in the price of silk, the most valuable of Japan's exportable commodities. In the West Indies and in Cuba higher prices are now quoted for sugar, the principal crop.—Ex.

THE NIGHT STAR

Look! there shines a twinkling star,
Shining on us from afar;
They never falter in their way,
Always shining at end of day,
Ten million does there seem to be,
Shining, twinkling o'er land and sea.
All night-long across the sky
The Milky Way doth seem so high,
So they twinkle the whole night long.

Singing sweetly—yet dumb in song
The years pass on—the ages too,
But still they shine from skies of blue

Who placed those stars in that twinkling row?
That swing so gently too and fro?
He did; who painted the hill-tops seven
He brought; polished; placed them in heaven.
Now they shine on us every night,
Beside the moon—they're the only light.

They lie like snow in drifts so deep,
Feathery sentinels; never asleep!
What would we do if they did not shine
In that twinkling, feathery, milky line?
'Tis hard to say, for we do not know
What we would do if the stars should go?

 I married a widow who had a grown up step-daughter. My father was a widower, fell in love with my step-daughter and married her; so my father became my son-in-law, and naturally my step-daughter became my mother because she married my father. My wife gave birth to a son who became my father's brother-in-law and my uncle because he was the brother of my step-daughter. My father's wife who was my step-daughter's mother.

ter also had a son who became my brother because he was the son of my father and also my grandchild because he was the son of my daughter. Now, my wife is my grandmother because she is the mother of my mother and therefore I'm her grandchild as well as her husband. I am the husband of my grandmother, therefore I am also my own grandfather.

Miss Borden had gone to a corner of the set while Josephine was 'shot' and, hearing the commotion, came back to see what it was all about.
 Going up to the monkey, she called in a coaxing way, and held out a cracker as she had in the previous shot.

Josephine came chattering gleefully toward the little star, sat down on the tree branch and munched away while the cameras clicked the scene into the box.
 All Josephine wanted was to be fed by Olive—and having a mind of her own achieved her purpose.
 'Yellow Fingers' is a story of the South Seas into which is subtly woven all the glamour of the Orient, together with an absorbing love story and the tragic history of a little half caste who believed herself all white.

NEW RECORD SET
 BY MAJOR SEAGRAVE
 ENGLISH SPRED ACE
 Daytona Beach Florida, March 29th—Major Seagrave of England, to-day sent his 'Mystery S' at the pace of 207.15 miles down the course after heating up the track into the headwind that threw his huge racer into skids threatening instant death.
 'I'm satisfied; now we'll pack up and go home,' the Major told K. Lee Guinness, his companion, when he found that a broken brake shoe would prevent making a third run.

BULLETIN FROM PROVINCIAL GOVT.
 Provincial Finances
 The annual review of Alberta's finances was presented to the Legislature at session at Edmonton last week, by Mr. E. G. Reid, Minister of the Treasury. In view of the fact that the financial year of the Government is to be changed to end March 31st of each year, Mr. Reid presented estimates covering the eighteen months to March 31st of 1928.
 For the calendar year of 1927, he estimates that there will be a surplus in the provincial treasury of more than $26,000, with another $20,000 for the first three months of 1928, making a total surplus of more than $46,000.
 The total estimated revenue for 1927 shows an increase over the actual revenue for 1926 of $588,900, and the estimated expenditures for the present year show an increase over the actual expenditures of 1926 of $580,500.
 Two new taxes were announced, the first being a five per cent tax on the turn-over of all pari-mutuel machines in the province, and the second being an additional tax of one cent a gallon on gasoline. The first is expected to bring $100,000 into the treasury and the second is expected to bring $280,000 in.
 New Deputy Attorney General
 Hon. J. F. Lynburn, Attorney General, has announced the appointment of George B. Henwood, well-known lawyer of Edmonton, to be Deputy Attorney General, in place of R. A. Smith, resigned. Mr. Henwood has been practising in the province for many years.
 Alberta's School Enrollment
 There was a total enrollment of 150,556 pupils in Alberta public and high schools during 1926, an increase over 1925 of 2730. Attendance at rural schools shows improvement.

JOSEPHINE, MONK, TEMPERAMENTAL IN "YELLOW FINGERS"

There was only one temperamental actress in the whole 'Yellow Fingers' company—Josephine, the monkey and she can be seen at the theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

She had a mind of her own and apparently no amount of coaxing on the part of the camera man, director or master could make her think differently. In fact for a time it seemed as though production would be held up indefinitely, for evidently Josephine knew what she wanted.

Josephine had just made a scene with Olive Borden, star of the picture in which that lovely lady fed the animal cracker crackers. Josephine had acted with all the grace and technique of a seasoned trouper. She had scampered down a tree, chattered excitedly and perched delightedly, on Miss Borden's arm to munch at the crackers while the cameras cranked on.

Then came Josephine's big moment. Director Flynn called for a closeup of the monkey eating the crackers. Evidently Josephine didn't realize the importance of the order for she retired to the top of the tree. After some time she reluctantly came down and her master gave her the crackers to eat.

However, Josephine would have none of them. As fast as the man gave her the squares she would throw them to the ground in no uncertain manner—refusing even to take a tiny bite.

Miss Borden had gone to a corner of the set while Josephine was 'shot' and, hearing the commotion, came back to see what it was all about.
 Going up to the monkey, she called in a coaxing way, and held out a cracker as she had in the previous shot.

THE DEMAND FOR SECONDARY EDUCATION is on the increase and the percentage of pupils continuing through the high schools is higher than formerly.
 Thirteen hundred students attended the University of Alberta last year, of which 897 were men and 405 were women.

Good Work by City Clinics
 In two hundred clinics held by the nursing branch of the Public Health Department, in three cities during 1926, the total attendance of infants and pre-school age children was more than 10,000. The average attendance at the clinics at Edmonton was 39, at the Calgary clinics was 49, and at the Medicine Hat clinics was 33.

Manufacturers Coming West
 (The Canadian Manufacturers' Association with over 700 delegates, will hold its annual convention in the West this year, meeting at Calgary, Alberta, in June.)

Livestock Men to Meet in West
 Livestock men from all over Canada are meeting in Calgary during the week of March 28th, when the various organizations comprising the Dominion Livestock Association will hold their annual meeting in Alberta. This will be the first time these associations have met in the West.

Wool Growers at Lethbridge
 The Canadian Wool Growers' Association is to meet in convention in Lethbridge, April 1st. Col. McEwen of London, Ont., will preside. Nearly 200 delegates are expected to be in attendance.

University Feeds Day
 The annual Feeds Day held by the animal husbandry department of the University of Alberta will be held Saturday, April 9th. The various exercises in livestock feeding carried on during the year will be reviewed. One of the features of the day will be a 'better beef' luncheon, with cuts from one of the University show steers.

Tourists May Stay Longer
 Tourists coming to Alberta by car may now stay thirty days under permit, instead of the previous limit of ten days.

TRANSPLANTING OF TREES IMPORTANT
 The importance of transplanting trees as early in the spring as frost will permit cannot be over estimated. Many trees are lost by late spring planting. The latest possible date for transplanting depends on the variety as some come into leaf much earlier than others. The earlier transplanting is done the better but after the leaf bud begin to open there is danger of losing the tree entirely by 'scorching'.

In transplanting deciduous trees it is usually necessary to cut some branches out or cut the entire top back to make a proper balance between roots and leaves. A very important point is to pack the soil firmly about the roots.

Of all the poplars tried at the Scott Experimental Station the Russian Poplar is the most satisfactory. Among the 30 varieties of willows tested the Laurel Leaf and Golden willows have given best results but the climate is rather dry for best results with willows.

Of the flowering shrubs the bush honeysuckle is undoubtedly one of the hardiest and most satisfactory. It is covered with blossom in spring and an ornamental berry is formed which remains for months.

A number of different hedges have been tested and the common caragana (Caragana Arborea) is recommended for practically all conditions. It is widely used for shelter for gardens and is very efficient as a wind-breaker or snow trap.

Caragana is readily grown from seed and a very dense ornamental hedge may be formed if trimming is done regularly from the beginning. If allowed to grow without trimming it will attain a height of 12 or 15 feet but will not be so dense.

How to Play BRIDGE

A new series of lessons by Wynne Ferguson
 Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 17
 The writer has pointed out many times in these articles the folly of playing no-trump with a hand that contains a singleton or void. Such hands seldom score game. A singleton partner has the opportunity, so with this type of hand bid 3s, if possible, on the first round. By so doing, you will give partner and opponents a chance to bid and your subsequent procedure depends entirely on their bidding. Unless your partner bids the missing suit, don't venture a no-trump bid for it seldom produces a game. With such a hand, a suit bid is preferable. The following is an excellent example:

THE BLACK DIAMOND EXPRESS

A few moments ago such results would have been regarded as impossible. Now, the public was by no means appeased. It wanted Jordan and the rest punished. Not by fines—but by stiff sentences in jail. Nothing else, it was becoming plain, would serve. And it would take more than money, more than influence and pull to save the indicted men.

John Ballard the man who had made it possible to secure the indictment had become all at once a national figure. There was talk of his nomination for governor. Let him convict these men, it was said on all sides, and there was no limit to the heights he might scale. That political career of which he had always dreamed was opening wide before him; destiny pointed to a place he had never dared aspire to. He bade fair to be the man of the hour, to be carried upward on a rising wave of popular confidence and esteem.

Against him—lawyers older, far more famous were arrayed. He refused to ask the governor for help, though some advised him to do so. No! he said. "This case is essentially simple and direct. Either these men are guilty or they are not. It needs no legal genius to prosecute them. All that is required is a simple and honest president of the facts. I am confident of the outcome."

And though the defense talked big through Jordan, out on bail and busy in New York, issued bombastic statements and threatened to sue John for libel, the public believed fully that Ballard would make good his word and that sooner or later the spectacle of great financial potentates going to jail like any common criminals would be seen.

For once the engineer was not to be the scapegoat; the responsibility for the disaster was to be put squarely where it belonged, on the shoulders of the men who had profited by the conditions that had brought it about. And all the time, under Raymond the smooth, clever detective of the railway, men were working to turn up witnesses who should be able to smash John Ballard. It was not easy. Many of the men who had been in the gambling house at Newton that summer had disappeared. Some were dead. Others had gone away—to ends of the country, some even abroad. Yet the trail was followed, doggedly, secretly, with a grim determination. For it was becoming increasingly plain that only some such procedure could defeat Ballard now.

Jordan and Hardin, in conference with their lawyers, heard the truth. Distinguished attorneys were shocked by what they had heard.

"You've run wild, Jordan," one great lawyer a former judge of a high court, told him. Man alive—why didn't you consult your lawyers before you went so far? You've acted without the authority of your stockholders and directors—you've flung yourself open to attack in a hundred ways."

"MADAME LEONTINE" with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. Pictures production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Bob Ward, working his way through college, is informed by his chums, Freddy and Arch, that they have found on easy and profitable way to earn money—working as dancing partners, of afternoon, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, faced with tuition for unpaid rent, reluctantly agrees to go to the roadhouse. There he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he had ever laid eyes on. She disappears, while his chums are presenting him to the proprietress, Madame Leontine.

"Thanks, Madame Leontine," said Bob, "we're glad you like Bob. We knew you would—because he's the despair of every lover's girl who comes to the school dances and the champion hooter of New York University to boot, along with being this year's All-American tackle. Gee, what better combination could you want to bring business to your dance hall?"

Madame Leontine chased Freddy and Arch off to the dressing rooms, to hurry into their bathroom shoes and the light, neat, natty serge suits they wore for the dancing. Then she took personal charge of Bob.

"I suppose the boys told you something of the work—of what is required of you here?" she asked softly.

Bob, wondering where in tarantula that sweet girl had gone to, turned his eyes upon the Amazon, and confessed that they had not told him much—that he was still a good deal in the dark.

Madame Leontine linked arms with him, and promenade deliberately along the rim of the dance floor, leading him toward the dressing rooms, but at the same time

ART IN THE HOME

"We must realize that our taste grows and changes as we grow. What do many of us hang upon our walls? Only the works of art we have inherited from our parents and the wedding presents we have received from our friends. Yet these do not inevitably represent our own taste. We must from time to time change our pictures, as we do our clothes and books and toys; the art of collecting is to seek judiciously. We should rehang and rearrange frequently; and not offer the same old menu to our guests year in and year out. Sentiment is a good servant, but a bad master and it is taste, not sentiment, that should hang on our walls, and taste that should grow as swiftly as the years pass."—Sir Robert Wall.
